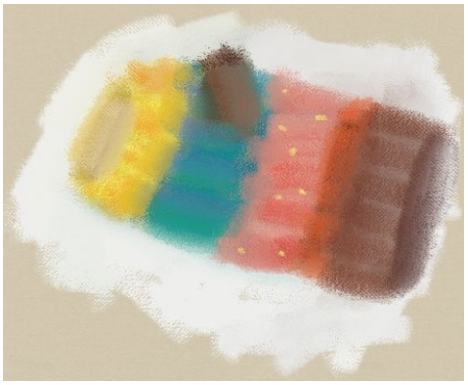
Left Over Finger-less Gloves I Wear
by Charlote Greenwood

Date written : April 16th 2016



A single poem, in English.
----------==

Copyright 2016 Charlote Elizabeth Greenwood.

You may copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format. Under the following terms:
Attribution - You must give appropriate credit, and indicate if changes were made. You may do so in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests endorsement of you or your use.
NonCommercial - You may not use the material for commercial purposes. NoDerivatives - If you remix, transform, or build upon the material, you may not distribute the modified material. No additional restrictions - You may not apply legal terms or technological measures that legally restrict others from doing anything this license permits.

---------- - -
Left Over Finger-less Gloves I Wear
by Charlote Elizabeth Greenwood
---------- - - -

Left over finger-less gloves I wear
a left behind from selections un decided within a store I did not enter
from another never met
through the post
delivered.

My favorite mittens were sent.
With colors a plenty; pink whites marine gold flashes thread dart through a sequin ending on gray marl cast off
beyond brown open thumb
that opposes nothing in between.

The next purchase being a matching hat; having decided
one ending with a bobble or pom pom perhaps.

And with enough bits of wool
it shall be oddly knitted.
Another symphony to happiness,
warmth sewn in; perfectly fitted.

[END]